By JOE MORRIS

TEHRAN, Iran, (UP) — The Iranian gendarmerie (federal police) reported today that Mrs. Anita Carroll has been seen with a group of women who split from a murderous bandit tribe which kidnaped her.

The report gave rise to new hope that the blonde American woman, whose husband and another American were slain by the bandits in the mountainous wasteland of Baluchistan not far from where she was kidnaped Sunday.

The gendarmerie reported finding a witness who saw Mrs. Carroll, of Issaquah, Wash., with the women in the mountainous wasteland of Baluchistan not far from where she was kidnaped Sunday.

Clark Gregory, director of the International Cooperation Administration (ICA) mission of Iran, said yesterday that an estimated 20 women and their children had split away from their menfolk of the bandit tribe in order to elude pursuit.

Today's report indicated Mrs. Carroll went with them although it was not made clear immediately how long ago she was seen.

The Iranian government today offered a 5 million riyal ($65,000) ransom for her safe return from the primitive tribesmen and another 500,000 riyals for information leading to the apprehension of her captors.

A government spokesman said the bandits may be captured any day — perhaps any hour.

Testimony Is Against British Doctor

LONDON (UP) — Dr. Arthur Douthwaite insisted today under a tense and dramatic cross-examination that he was "forced" by his study of nurses' records to conclude that Dr. John Bodkin Adams was trying to terminate the life of an elderly widow patient.

Douthwaite, the crown's chief medical expert and an international authority of narcotics, resisted every effort by Chief Defense Counsel Geoffrey Lawrence to get him to admit that the records themselves gave no evidence of murderous intent.

Lawrence implied that Douthwaite, a Harley street man, was not familiar with the dilemma of the general practitioner hurrying to ease a case and having to make up his mind at the moment what treatment was best for a very old woman suffering from the aftermath of a stroke and from drug addiction.

Lawrence, pointing his finger at the 6-foot, 5½ inch specialist, got him to agree, however, that it was a matter of medical opinion as to what intent lay behind the series of morphine and paraldehyde doses given Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell.

He said Adams was faced with the dilemma—a word he used several times—in deciding whether to withdraw morphine from her when her condition deteriorated or to switch to a completely new course of treatment.

Douthwaite conceded that withdrawal from a woman had been an addict for at least 2½ years might have resulted in death.

The specialist also agreed that the paraldehyde to which Adams switched was one of the safest of the sleep-producing drugs, although he said he himself would have used hyoscine which is also an antidote against morphine.

Adams sat grimly, arms folded, during this key questioning of the crown's most important expert witness.

CHILD KILLED

PINE BLUFF (UP) — Five-year-old Calvin Lee Tatum, Negro, was killed at a railroad crossing here yesterday when he was hit by a car.

Police identified the driver as Ethel Owens, 43, Pine Bluff, Negro.

The child was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Festus Tatum of Pine Bluff.

LITTLE LIZ

The thing that causes most people to lose their balance is their checkbook.

HIGH COST OF KILLING—Will war's bankrupting cost help contribute to its elimination as an international threat? Could be. Newschart above shows how the cost of killing even one enemy soldier has increased from the Civil War's $8,000 to World War II's $75,000. Military men say the cost of killing one soldier in a new war is anybody's guess. They consider $100,000 a low estimate, $200,000 a possibility.

Financier Opening Up Wilderness in Canada

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (UP) — Multimillionaire Axel Wenner-Gren, "The Swedish Sphinx," says it is a mystery to him why he is sometimes called "the mystery man of international finance."

"If I spent all my time talking about what I was doing, I wouldn't have time left to do all the things I still want to," he said.

"I am no mystery man. I have tried to keep out of the spotlight but sometimes you have to throw a little light on what you are attempting to do."

And in his 78th year, Wenner-Gren feels he is now embarked on the biggest project of his life. It is the opening up of a 40,000-square-mile frontier tract in British Columbia, a wilderness area of Canada almost as large as England and Wales combined.

Wenner-Gren has deposited half a million dollars with British Columbia provincial authorities as a guarantee he will build a 400-mile monorail in the area by 1960. But before then he expects to spend five million dollars to inventory its mineral, hydroelectric and timber resources.

"This is the most important thing I have ever tried," he said.

His company has agreed to provide hospitals and schools in the area as it develops, and his own share of any profits have been pledged to philanthropies. His associates estimate that if the territory proves as rich in resources as they expect, more than a billion dollars of development capital will eventually be required.

Wenner-Gren, who is tanned, gray-haired and as vigorous as his Viking forbears, is often referred to as one of the five richest men in the world.

His blue eyes twinkle in amusement when asked if it is true that he belongs in this charmed circle of wealth.

"I don't know myself," he said. "I wish I were. But as soon as I have more than I want I give it away."

Associates have estimated he has given from 25 million to 50 million dollars to various scientific and health foundations he has established here and in Sweden. He doesn't like to discuss his private philanthropies.

Wenner-Gren is an organization genius and is now reported to have active business interests in 20 countries. He founded his fortune on vacuum cleaners and home refrigerators, but today his scores of corporations make everything from diet pills to railroad trains.

The real mystery to most people is how this "mystery man" who in 1907 was getting 15 cents an hour in a New Jersey tractor factory, became a 20th Century Croesus.

But Wenner-Gren doesn't mind disclosing his secret of how to become rich.

All that is required to make a million dollars is hard work, self-discipline and common sense," he observed drily.

There, "The secret is yours. Now let's see how quickly you can pile up your first million. The odds are that, even though you now know the magic formula, you won't use it."

Many people aren't independent-minded, said Wenner-Gren. They don't want to take up the challenge of going into business for themselves.

Do I still supervise all my interests personally, and I feel I have at least 10 more years of business activity.

What lies ahead? I don't see any real crisis. I can't think of anything more promising right now than the future of the United States.

Group to Talk About Disabled President

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower talks over with congressional leaders today that Congress should provide not only for a situation in which an ailing president temporarily steps aside voluntarily, but also for one in which a disabled president might not be able or willing to declare his own inability to carry on.

Both Rep. Celler (D-NY) and Rep. Keating (R-NY) said in pre-conference interviews they would make this point.

Celler is chairman and Keating is senior Republican member of both the Judiciary Committee and a special subcommittee which has done most of the recent congressional spadework on presidential disability legislation.

Eisenhower said in calling in the congressional leaders that he wants to see if there are any more suggestions before he sends to Congress his recommendations based on a study by Atty. Gen. Brownell.

A vice president never has taken over the presidential duties except after the death of the President. The Constitution provides also that he may do so when the President is disabled, but does not specify his status during that period, who determines the disability, and other details.

The partisan posts currently are held by Republicans. These are the state highway commissioner, the state superintendent of public instruction, two members of the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan, two members of the State Board of Agriculture (this board's sole job is administering Michigan State University) and one member of the State Board of Education.

Michigan has swung sharply to the Democratic column in state politics in the last decade. Ten years ago all 25 statewide elected officers were held by Republicans.

Then G. W. W. Williams broke the monopoly by winning the governorship in 1948. Now in his fifth consecutive term, Williams has carried nine other Democrats into state office. Last November the Democrats swept six out of six statewide contests.

Michigan's spring election, held in odd-numbered years, remained Republican property until 1955 when the Democrats grabbed four of the six contested partisan offices. The two Republicans who were elected had majorities of less than 3,000 votes.

The top fight has centered around the state highway commissioner's job. Republican George Foster of East Lansing, is opposed by John Mackie of Flint.

Hot Springs Has Big Jewel Theft

HOT SPRINGS (UP) — A suitcase containing $250,000 in jewelry last night was reported stolen from a hotel suite here occupied by a New Jersey couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lehrer of Hackensack, N.J., who said they have been touring resort cities throughout the country since January, told police the gems were taken from their rooms on the 10th floor of the Arlington Hotel.

Police Chief John Erney said a hotel employee had reported finding the Lehrers' suitcase on a 10th-floor stairway yesterday morning. The suitcase was empty, the chief said.

Lehrer said his wife discovered the theft last night as she dressed for dinner.

Erney said the suite showed no sign of forcible entry and that Lehrers told him he retired the previous night about 11 p.m. and that his wife returned to the suite about midnight.

This resort city presently is jammed with visitors with Oaklawn Park's 31-day horse racing season drawing to a close. The season ends Saturday.

Michigan to Hold Election on Monday

By BEN PHLEGAR

DETROIT (UP) — The first statewide election in the nation since the presidential balloting last November will be held in Michigan Monday.

Republicans will be fighting to stem a growing succession of Democratic triumphs. In this one-time GOP stronghold.

At stake will be seven partisan jobs and three technically non-partisan judgeships.

The partisan posts currently are held by Republicans. These are the state highway commissioner, the state superintendent of public instruction, two members of the Board of Regents of the University of Michigan, two members of the State Board of Agriculture (this board's sole job is administering Michigan State University) and one member of the State Board of Education.

Lord Salisbury Resigns to Protest Release

By JAMES MARLOW

LONDON (UP) — The Marquess of Salisbury's resignation protesting release of Greek-Cypriot Archbishop Makarios focussed attention today on an cabinet rift over the government's handling of the explosive Cyprus issue.

The announcement that Salisbury had quit his cabinet post as leader of government forces in the House of Lords came last night. Prime Minister Macmillan's office reported that Queen Elizabeth II had accepted his resignation as Lord President of the Council.

Salisbury also quit as political controller of Britain's atomic energy development. Macmillan's statement said the Earl of Home, commonwealth relations secretary, will take over as Lord President and the Prime Minister himself will assume the atomic energy post.

Informed sources said Salisbury was backed by some other ministers in his opposition to the release of Makarios.

Salisbury, 63-year-old former foreign minister, was believed to have been one of the masterminds in the Conservative Party's efforts to find a successor for Sir Anthony Eden as Prime Minister. Macmillan was named to the post Jan. 10, two hours after Salisbury had spent 60 minutes talking with the Queen.

In announcing his resignation, Salisbury sent the Prime Minister a strong note scoring Makarios' release as neither wise nor timely. He made clear in his letter that he would continue to support Macmillan's government on other issues.

Macmillan expressed grief over Salisbury's resignation but stood fast by his government's Cyprus policy and the release of the archbishop. I am convinced that this act of generous statesmanship will reap its reward," Macmillan said.

From Mahe in the Seychelles Islands where he had been exiled, Makarios said he would refuse to negotiate with Britain to settle the Cyprus rebellion until he is allowed to return to the Mediterranean coast. Although free to leave the Seychelles, Makarios is prevented by British from returning to Cyprus.

The Greek-Cypriot majority population on Cyprus has demanded that British rule be ended and the island united with Greece. The EOKA underground organization has been waging a campaign of violence to oust the British. Britain has offered the islanders more self-government but has said violence must be ended before steps can be taken toward that objective.

Beck Made Noise But Said Nothing

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (UP) — For a man who tried to make like a clam, Dave Beck made a lot of noise. He ducked behind the Fifth Amendment to keep his mouth shut but insisted on keeping it open the better part of two days.

The result: The roundish president of the Teamsters Union talked more and said less than any man in recent memory. But except for raising questions about what he wouldn't tell, Beck managed to tell a Senate investigating committee very little.

A witness before such a committee can rightfully use the Fifth Amendment to refuse answers to questions only if he thinks his replies might tend to incriminate him. Did Beck think his answers might tend to incriminate him?

Definitely, he said. But where another witness might mumble the amendment and shut up, Beck persisted in making a long statement the same one over and over, bringing in not only the Fifth Amendment but also the Fourth Amendment dealing with search and seizure, the first three articles of the Constitution which establish the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government, the committee's authority, and the relevancy of the questions it asked.

Can he get away with his almost blanket refusal to cooperate with the committee which is investigating his handling of union funds? Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), committee chairman, isn't sure and says he will find out.

A man cited by Congress for contempt in refusing to answer questions can, if tried and convicted in federal court, be fined and jailed for a year.

Ordinarily a witness using the Fifth Amendment can't be cited for contempt. But if he tries to choose what question to answer, and what to ignore by using the amendment, he gets on ticklish ground.

Beck did not follow his own rule of no answers 100 per cent. For example: He volunteered the information his union had authorized a 1½-million-dollar loan to the Fruehauf Trailer Corp. which, he said, paid it back in 14 months.

But when committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy asked Beck if he himself had ever received money directly or indirectly from Fruehauf, Beck took the Fifth Amendment. Kennedy then asked this double-barreled one:

Was Beck in trouble with the income tax people in 1954 because he had taken $20,000 from the union in the past and had Beck gone to Fruehauf for $200,000 which he turned over to the union Beck took the Fifth Amendment.

It is a violation of federal law—the Taft-Hartley Act—for an employer to give money to a representative of any of his employees or for such a representative to accept money from such an employer.

There is no such charge against Beck now. There is no charge against him by the income tax people. In fact, there is no charge of any kind against him at this moment. Beck says he'll come out of all this clean and white.

But McClellan told Beck evidence has been developed that you have misappropriated funds from the union. If so, it would not be a violation of any federal law since there is no federal law covering such an offense.

If there was such an offense and it could be proved, the only action which could be taken against Beck would have to come under state law, on some such charge as larceny.

Beck's signature was required before the bill could be delivered to the governor.

So Shirey set off in pursuit yesterday.

Appropriately, he went by way of Tadlock Perry.

Through coincidence when he arrived at the ferry he met state Sen. Guy H. Jones of Conway and Rep. Paul Van Dalsen of Perry County. It was through their efforts that the controversial Tadlock provision was included in the Senate version of the bill.

The ferry purchase proposal was not in the House version. A bitter fight over the matter erupted in the lower chamber Wednesday, the last day of a special session called to handle the highway bill.

The House finally okayed the Senate measure.

Logan to Film Two of His Pet Stories

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is the James Michener year for Josh Logan.
The famed director will devote nearly all 1957 to filming two Michener subjects — "Sayonara" and "South Pacific."
A big, bustling bear of a man, Logan has temporarily abandoned the creation of stage hits Mister Roberts, "Fanny," "Middle of the Night" (for movie hits) "Picnic," "Bus Stop." He'll get back to the theater in 1958, after he has filmed two of his pet projects.

"Sayonara" is the result of his long affection for Japan. His father had been to Japan before Josh was born and filled the house with Japanese mementoes. Logan never got to Japan until a world tour he took after directing "South Pacific" in London. There he met author Michener, to whom he suggested a love story between a GI and a girl of the Japanese theater. The result was "Sayonara," but when he put the book up for sale, he forgot to send me a copy," Logan lamented.

Michener selected Logan's late offer over those of three major film studios, causing the latter to sue. Somehow the legalities were worked out, and the picture is now filming here after locations in Japan.

Logan has made a major change in the story — the war era (Marlon Brando) marries the actress (Mikko Taka) instead of leaving her behind.

A happy ending Logan mused. Happy for love, perhaps. But not so happy when they consider the disapproval the pair must face from their own people. The Japanese, known more on mixed marriages than Americans do.

As soon as he finishing with "Sayonara," Logan launches on another East-West theme by the prolific Michener — "South Pacific."

Why should I?

Fancy Way to Train Air Recruits

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — Roller skating and horseback riding have partially replaced those dreaded pushups in the basic training program at Lackland Air Force Base.

Under a new program, trainees can elect to spend 10 hours of the required 28 hours of physical training and calisthenics roller skating to the music of an organ at an air-conditioned rink or they can take a 10-hour horseback riding. The idea has been greeted enthusiastically by the air-men.

These boys go for it big," said Heinie Muller, civilian operator of the rink and stable. Some of them are becoming marvelous skaters. Entire flights sometimes take their skating lessons together. Muller said the rink cost $250,000 and was completed Jan. 21. He said it was privately financed in return for a 10-year lease from the federal government.

The stable, with 41 horses saddled and ready to go, hasn't proved as popular as the roller skating rink.

No business," said W. C. Taylor, as he surveyed the jenny and saddlebag and quiver. They all go skating.

Runaway Boxcar Damages Platform

ARLINGTON, (UP) — A runaway Missouri Pacific freight car derailed near the Arlington Railroad station today heavily damaging a passenger and freight platform.

No one was injured. The car, loaded with cow hides, jumped the tracks when the floor of another freight car gave way dropping a 100-pound piece of lead onto the rails.

Philip McCorkle, Sr., publisher of the Arlington Herald here, said the runaway car careened off of the two platforms then smashed into another railroad car which serves as living quarters for railroad workers.

One of the workmen had left the house car only minutes before it was demolished.

'Oklahoma!' Brilliant Musical Rich In Happy Entertainment

"Oklahoma!," Rogers and Hammerstein's musical classic, which has been thrilling audiences all over the world for nearly fourteen years, comes to the Saenger theater Sunday in Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope and at popular prices which make it the best entertainment buy in a long time. The corn is still as high as "an elephant's eye" and the azure sky smiles down on the "surrey with the fringe on top" just as brightly as it did on that March night in 1943 at the St. James theater in New York when the play first opened. The brilliance of "Oklahoma!" seems destined to shine on forever.

The magic of CinemaScope and color by Technicolor gives added scope to this delightful bit of Americana and the folksy tunes that embroider it. The love story of "Curly" and "Laurey," the antics of "Ado Annie," "Jud Fry's" villainy, the understanding of the peddler, "Ali Hakim," "Will Parker's" exuberance, "Aunt Eller's" patience and "Andrew Carnes'" rural stability are familiar to all who have followed the fabulous progress of this great production.

The stars, Gordon MacRae, Gloria Grahame, Shirley Jones, Gene Nelson, Charlotte Greenwood, Eddie Albert, James Whitmore and Rod Steiger breathe life into these characters and make "Oklahoma!" real and vital. With their singing and dancing they make you feel as though you were right in the cornfields on "Aunt Eller's" farm. Gordon MacRae has never been in better voice than he is in this entertainment gem and Miss Grahame and Shirley Jones are bewitching in their charm. The entire cast seems to be having lots of fun during the unfolding of the story and their playing is infectious.

The songs in this fascinating musical production are as fresh and lifting today as they were in 1943 on Broadway. The ballet numbers staged by Agnes DeMille add great stature to the picture, which Arthur Hornblow, Jr. produced with care and imagination. Fred Zinnemann's direction is inspired and Robert Surtees' camera captures all the beauty and panorama of "Oklahoma!"

"Oklahoma!" is a musical masterpiece that you can see again and again with pleasure at each viewing.

DOROTHY DIX

He May Be a Louse, But Mother Still Loves Him

Dear Dorothy Dix: We are a family of six children, married in our own homes. Mom and Dad live by themselves, but they aren't well people and Mom's medication costs several dollars a week. Dad earns a small salary but, you can realize, they don't have an easy time financially.

We all co-operate, except one brother. He brings his family to Mom's every week or so, staying for dinner but never offering money. How can we make this selfish brother realize that Mom can't afford to treat them so lavishly? When we mention it to Mom, she begs us not to say anything to them.

KAY and JAY
Dear Girls: If you are interested in your mother's emotional and spiritual welfare as you are in her financial well-being, you won't make too much of an issue over your selfish brother. You have dropped enough hints about his cheapness, if you haven't spoken of your outright about it, get one of your brothers to tell him the facts of life. If he doesn't change, I doubt if he will swallow your resentment.

Almost every family boasts one crumb, but since a mother usually doesn't discriminate against him, the others might as well be tolerant, too.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a pilot in the Air Force and have been stationed in northern Canada. I fell in love with a girl who lives there. Now that I'm leaving, I know I won't see her again. The thought is constantly on my mind, even when I am flying. This could be dangerous, since flying requires complete concentration. Can you help me?

GEORGE
Dear George: A pilot's life is not a simple one. For your own safety and with due regard for those who fly with you, I suggest that you take your troubles to the commanding officer, who will see that you're grounded, if necessary, until you recover.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 26 years old, tall, dark and handsome. I have met a wonderful girl but am afraid of getting too attached to her, as I have a morbid fear of marriage. I don't know whether it's the financial angle or the responsibility that scares me. DEBBIE
Dear Debbie: Wouldn't it be rather a shame for such a dreamboat as you to be taken out of circulation by one girl? As long as matrimony frightens you, you'd better avoid it. Marital responsibilities are not for the weak.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I attend an all-girl high school and never had a date. Now that I'm in my parents' and friends' say I should get married, I don't feel ready, but they're making me feel like an old maid.

DEBBIE
Dear Debbie: Since you don't know anyone now who would be a husband material for you, it's not only early, but foolish to think so seriously of marriage. Stop thinking of yourself as an old maid.

They're Going to Hang That Photo

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — They're going to hang that disputed portrait of Sen. Joseph S. Clark among the familiar faces of other Philadelphia mayors after all. The painting has had a dubious status since March 16. That was when it was delivered to Mayor Richardson Dilworth's reception room and some of the mayor's official family and a smattering of art experts got first peek a that week of the sometimes unorthodox Franklin C. Walkins.

Oh Oh, my God" was wrung from Dilworth as he gazed glassily at what associates told him was likeness of his long-time friend and Democratic colleague, elected senator last fall after four years as mayor of Philadelphia. Others were shaken too, and there was an outcry that it ain't so much like Joe as it's like Franklin. That impression was created by the pose, as dissimilar to the usual picture of an illustrious ex-mayor as a bust of Mozart is unlike the craggy contours of Casav Stengel "It isn't traditional," cried the critics, pointing to the folded arms, the downcast eyes. "That's the way I saw him, as asserted artist Watkins, "and that's the way I painted him. Clark, himself, said, "I am content with it."

The Mind of Teddy Nadler Is Fascinating

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) One of the most fascinating minds which the current television quiz program had brought to light is that of Theodore Nadler of St. Louis, who thus far has won $120,000 on The 64,000 Challenge (CBS-TV).

On Sunday he will return to the program to compete against Maxwell Thomas Jr., on the subject of geography for $16,000 more. For nine weeks Nadler has been competing against experts in a great variety of fields of knowledge. Who is he?

Well, he's a small, dark-haired, tense man of 47, with a wife and three children, who until recently was working as a civilian for the Army at the St. Louis Area Support Center for take-home pay to $67 a week. Although he was highly esteemed as a clerical employee, his job rating (he says) was that of a laborer.

Although he has only a grammar school education, he has surpassed and confounded an amazing array of experts in such diverse fields as history, baseball, music and geography. One obvious question is why a man with so retentive and agile a mind has been willing to remain in such a poorly paid job.

You don't understand what it is to be very poor, Nadler said. My mother was an invalid and my father could only work part time. I grew up partly in an orphanage. My brothers and sisters and I all had to go to work early. I never even thought of going to high school. My parents were good people, but there was no one to guide me. They didn't think of things like education, such as are thought of in even an average American family. Nobody ever evaluated anything.

Nadler read everything he could find. He discovered, without surprise, that he remembered what he read. I did not seem unusual to him; he presumed that everyone remembered. He is still somewhat mystified that they don't.

After questioning Nadler exhaustively to the point of mutual exhaustion, I believe he has one of the most extraordinary minds I've ever met. He has almost total recall and an amazingly free association of ideas.

This is a quite different type of mentality, for one that recalls simply the words of a printed page. It is typical of many of the world's best minds. It is similar, for example, to the way that the late Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes once described the working of his phenomenal memory.

What is Theodore Nadler going to do with the great gift of his mind? Apparently not much. He won't take another regular job this year. He'd like a better job in the field of statistics, but he hasn't been offered one in St. Louis — his native city which he refuses to leave. He's bought a new home and his family is living better than it ever has.

About two thirds of his winnings will go in taxes — a subject that troubles him greatly. The remainder he plans to put in a savings account and draw interest. He replied that that would only result in more income which the government would tax.

Has he any theories as to why his abilities weren't better recognized as a civil service employee. I was known as capable and dependable," he said, "but that doesn't necessarily help you get ahead. To get ahead you have to play politics and I don't know how to do it."

A modest man with simple tastes, all the public attention troubles him. I wouldn't like to live under this tension all the time," he said. I'm grateful to everybody, but when his all over I hope they all forget about it.

NOT HARBOR
SANTA BARBARA, Calif., (UP) — City employees painted 15 public cars yesterday, but all the women complained. The employees were moving their truck when the hose on a pressurized tank broke, spraying the cars with a mottled white on one side.

Wilson Means to Halt Leaks of Army Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson rejected today a proposal that reporters be hauled before grand juries if necessary to discover the source if published leaks' about military information.

The Pentagon chief also turned down as smacking of censorship recommendations to limit newsmen to approved interviews with defense officials, and to require that those interviews be in the presence of official monitors.

The recommendations were made last fall by a committee composed of Charles Coolidge, former assistant secretary of defense, and four retired generals and admirals.

The department committee was created to study information problems.

When the committee submitted its recommendations, Wilson expressed serious reservations about the proposal to summon reporters before grand juries. Wilson's actions in relation to the report were taken in a series of directives.

Wilson said in turning down the grand jury proposal that there were ample laws and procedures handle such matters in any case the Justice Department has the authority to summon witnesses before grand juries.

Wilson said, however that the Defense Department had an obligation to find the sources of leaks of military information and had authority to discipline its military or civilian employees as well as to recommend prosecution of other persons to the attorney general if the facts warranted.

As for the idea of limiting in-

Little Girl Was Fond of Dogs

DETROIT (AP) — A little, blue-eyed blonde of 12 just loved dogs. But her parents wouldn't permit her to own one.

The little girl had lots of friends who liked dogs. Their parents didn't mind, but they just didn't have any.

One after another seven of them became dog owners. Six got miniature French poodles, the kind the 12-year-old just adored. The other got a German shepherd. All were registered, pedigreed stock.

Wherever the little 12-year-old went she could play with a friend's dog.

That was part of the story police unraveled from a roll of $20 bills that fell out of the 12-year-old's jacket as she romped with a friend's dog. The friends' mother became suspicious.

Police also found that the 12-year-olds father didn't believe in banks just as he didn't in dogs, that he kept his savings in a closet strongbox, and that the little girl had chanced upon the hidden strongbox keys.

The strongbox financed taxi trips to pencils and purchase of $1,095 worth of dogs, with which a little blue-eyed blonde of 12 dearly loved to romp at the homes of friends.

Interviews with military officials to those arranged through the Pentagon's Information Office, Wilson said that could seriously hamper and delay unnecessarily the flow of information. Wilson also concluded that the compulsory monitoring of interviews could easily be misconstrued as censorship.

Prescott News

Methodist Men's Club Has Dinner Meet

The March meeting of the Methodist Men's Club was held on Monday evening at the Broadway Hotel with twenty members present.

Bill Oates, president, presided. Group singing was led by Jeff Livingston. Freeman Ligon, Harold Smith and Al Williams were appointed to serve on the nominating committee. The club voted to sponsor a "Fill the Pew" night at the church April 8 and to have a covered dish supper at the April meeting.

Charlie Thompson was the guest speaker and gave an address on "A Scattered Nation" that was given by Senator Vance 75 years ago. Mr. Thompson was introduced by Mr. Oates. The meeting adjourned with prayer by Freeman Ligon.

Mrs. Moore Complimented

Mrs. Andrew Moore, who leaves soon for Phoenix, Arizona to reside, was complimented with an informal party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barham in their attractive suburban home on Monday evening. Gracious arrangements of spring blossoms were placed at points of interest.
